بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم
الحمد لله الذي هدانا لهذا
الذي كنا لنهتدي لولا أن
هدانا الله وأولئك هم
المفلحون

This image shows a close-up of a piece of old, weathered paper. The paper is a light tan or yellowish-brown color, showing significant signs of age and wear. There are numerous small, dark spots and larger, faint stains scattered across the surface, particularly concentrated in the upper half. A small, dark, irregular mark is visible near the top center. The texture of the paper appears rough and uneven. Faint, illegible markings, possibly remnants of handwriting or printed text, are visible in some areas, but they are too faded to be read. The overall appearance is that of a fragment of an old document or a piece of antique parchment.

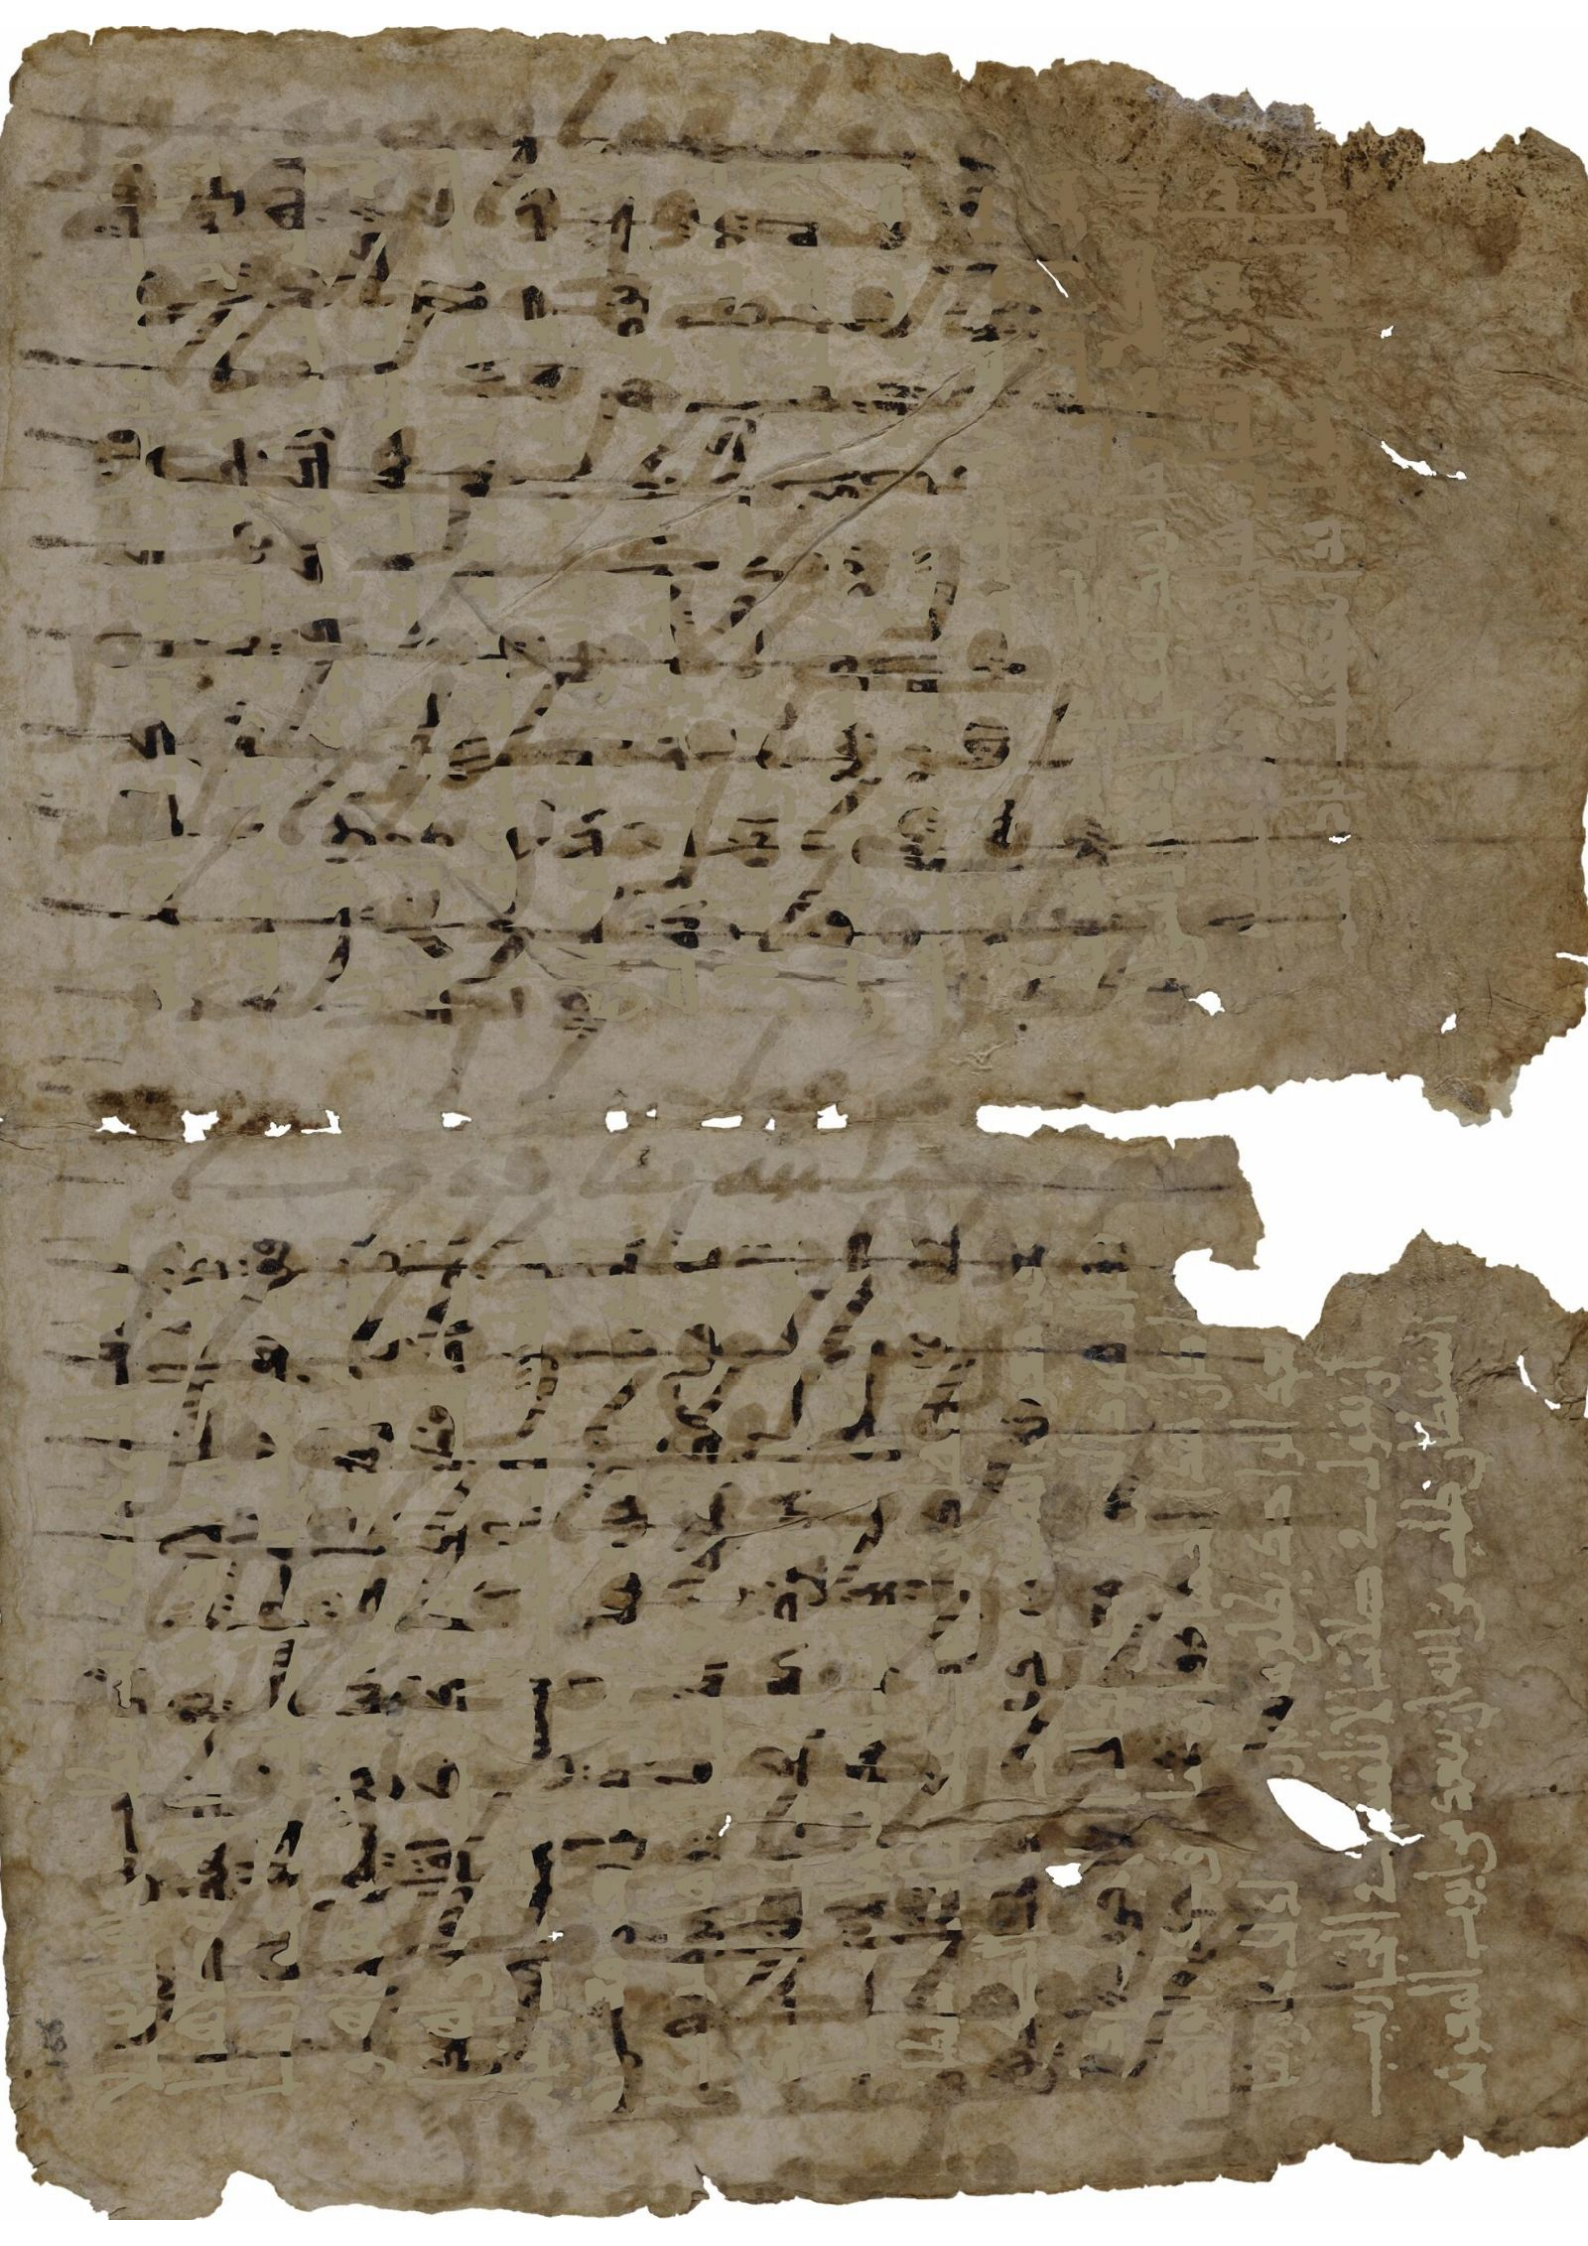

A close-up photograph of a page from an ancient manuscript, likely Hebrew, showing dense, handwritten text in a cursive script. The parchment is heavily stained and discolored, with significant water damage visible as large, dark, irregular blotches and streaks across the surface. The text is written in dark ink, and the overall appearance is one of extreme age and poor preservation.

Handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a manuscript page. The text is written in dark ink on aged, yellowed paper. The script is dense and appears to be a form of Arabic calligraphy, possibly Maghrebi or Andalusian. The page is heavily stained and discolored, with significant wear and tear, particularly along the edges and in the center. The text is arranged in several horizontal lines, though the ink is faded and the paper is damaged, making it difficult to read. The overall appearance is that of an ancient, well-used document.

Fragment of an ancient manuscript page, likely from a Hebrew or Arabic text. The parchment is heavily damaged, showing significant tearing and discoloration. The text is written in a cursive script, possibly Hebrew or Arabic, and is arranged in horizontal lines. The fragment is torn at the top and bottom edges.

This image shows a close-up of a manuscript page with ten horizontal staves. Each staff contains handwritten musical notation in a dark ink, likely Arabic script, with various note heads and stems. The paper is aged and yellowed, showing significant staining and wear, particularly along the right edge and between the staves.

This image shows a fragment of an ancient papyrus scroll. The surface is a light tan color with visible vertical and horizontal creases and some darker staining. The text is written in a dark ink using a cursive script, characteristic of Coptic or early medieval manuscripts. The characters are compact and often connected within words. The fragment is irregularly shaped, with a jagged left edge and a more regular right edge. The text is organized into approximately 12 horizontal lines. Some characters are larger and more distinct, while others are smaller and more integrated into the flow of the script. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but aged piece of historical writing.

Handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a religious or historical document. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper with visible creases and damage. The script is dense and cursive, typical of older Arabic manuscripts. The text is arranged in horizontal lines across the page.

Handwritten text in Persian script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a cursive style and is heavily faded and obscured by numerous horizontal and diagonal scratches and stains across the entire page. The paper is aged and discolored.
